

WE NOMINATE

Elmer George Homrighausen, 70-year old clergyman, educator, author and lecturer, whose insights into the vital issues confronting Christianity in the dismaying 1950's stamp him as one of the most perceptive and outspoken statesmen of the Christian Church. A Princetonian since 1938, when he became the youngest man ever to hold an endowed professorship at Princeton Theological Seminary, his sermons and press interviews over the years have caught and held the attention of thoughtful observers who feel with him, in this spring of his retirement, that the world, now finished with "all of the froth and froils," is moving away from "churchianity" and is returning to the fundamentals of religion.

Stirring memories of one of Dag Hammarskjöld's most quoted passages, "In our era, the road to holiness necessarily passes through the world of action," Homrighausen insists that the church has reached a new plateau "in its awareness of the needs and demands" of a restless world. This awareness and growing sensitivity to the problems of social action and civil rights, Homrighausen contends, are transforming and strengthening schools of theology which are seeking to bring together with religion such disciplines as psychology, natural science, philosophy and political theory.

Homrighausen, a member for 23 successive years of the Borough of Princeton's School board, is recognized as one of the stimulating teacher-preachers of his time. His travels year upon year carry him to institutions — both in this country and overseas. Ecumenical gatherings, community forums, teacher training conferences, ministers' institutes — all are part of his daily routine. Wherever he appears, and whatever he does, his techniques remain the same. This is essentially the Socratic method of teaching: a new dialogue in every paragraph and opportunities for listeners to gain their own ideas on the thoughts he is unfolding.

A native of Wheatland, Iowa, and a graduate of Wisconsin's Lakeland College, Homrighausen received his bachelor of theology here at the Seminary in 1921 and at age 21 was a pastor of a Freeport, Ill. church. In 1929 he moved to Indianapolis — to the Carrollton Avenue Evangelical and Reformed Church, one of Indiana's largest — and four years later was tapped for his first international conference, the World Presbyterian Alliance in Belfast Ireland, the kind of world-wide event that has long been an integral part of his every year routine as the Seminary's Charles Rosenbury Erdman Professor of Pastoral Theology.

With interests ranging from the Princeton Y.M.C.A. to his concerns as a member of the board of founders of the International Christian University, Tokyo, and as a trustee of Hood College, Frederick Md., Homrighausen has literally stamped the globe for the past three decades and has been in sensitive touch with all segments of the Christian Church. Shortly after World War II, for instance, he was called to Europe as a consultant to the World Council of Churches Assembly and spent the better part of a year in Geneva, there organizing the Council's Department of Evangelism and subsequently handling assignments on a round-the-world basis to churches and mission-stations.

For his abiding concern for everything bearing upon this community's well-being; for bringing new and sparkling ideas to an area all too often divorced from the challenges of every-day living; for devoting his life to the education of those aspiring to be Christian leaders; he is our nominee as

This Is Princeton

"THE INN? MY HOME!"
A Resident Retells. When
s the room George Washington lived in, I wonder?"

On the past 31 years when ever J. S. Van Sycel has heard that question, spoken by a new guest in the lobby of the Princeton Inn, he has smiled and come forward with instruction and a greeting.

So many visitors think the Princeton Inn is old! But it was only built in 1924 you know.
He smiles, "so I'll step up and say 'I'm afraid George Washington never slept here!'"

J. S. Van Sycel has lived at the Princeton Inn for 31 years.
When the Inn doors finally close on Saturday June 12, he will be the last remaining guest.

Princeton University decided last year to take over the Inn for use as a dormitory. Remodeling will be done this summer.

The Squire. Proud of his 81 years, alert and quick, Mr. Van Sycel tells with affection and enthusiasm of his years as a resident of the Inn.

"I came here with my parents in 1908 to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary," he remembers. "We planned to stay three weeks, and I stayed 31 years!"

Mr. and Mrs. Van Sycel died in the 1950s, although not at the Inn, and their son remembered, occupying some 10-12 different rooms over the three decades.

When moving day comes, he will take his great-grandfather's desk and his mother's handsome bureau to his quarters under the sheltering roof of a competitor — the Nassau Inn. Mr. Van Sycel still uses the old name, "The Tavern."

When I moved here, J. H.
ward Slocum was manager and there were only six or seven residents like me. And only 30 or 40 people at any one time — except for Reunions, of course.
It was like a little private home."

Reunions? Mr. Van Sycel, a Swarthmore alumnus, is charitable. "Well, sometimes it got a bit noisy on the terrace, but I always asked for a room on the opposite side."

The Manor. "The Inn has always been run like an English country house, you know. The main lobby is called 'The Exchange' that's the term used in Britain for the office or lobby of an inn."

"Where the bar is now, that was the 'Hunt Room' for private gatherings, decorated in

MR. PRINCETON INN: J. S. Van Sycel, who has lived at the Inn for 31 years, enjoys a moment or two in the Inn's garden. Mr. Van Sycel and his parents once lived in the wing of the Inn that's behind him in this picture.

the hunt fashion, of course. And that gracious old Dutch Room! They snored it completely when they made it into the East Room. It used to look out on the curving drive, and a beautiful old tree, but of course that tree's gone now."

The dining room used to be where the cocktail lounge now is, and Mr. Van Sycel remembers that back in 1908, he saw all his meals there for $1 a day.

George Terry was the chef then, and a man named Pongo was his assistant. "I was good with fish! But of course, they've always done very well with salmon here.
It's a specialty of Joseph Durine, who's the chef now."

Wassail! Like many other Princetonians, Mr. Van Sycel has especially warm memories of Christmas Eve Open House in front of the great open fire in the downstairs grill.

"It's now Conference Room," he laughs.
"Oh, yes, we had a wassail bowl and sometimes the Boy choir would sing carols and it was exactly like Christmas in a British country home."

He grimaces a little at an other form of recollection when people used to drink beer on the terrace in the summer and toss empty bottles over the hawn. "That was in the early 40's . . ."

The Inn's lawn is separated by a low hedge from Springdale's golf course. (But Mr. Van Sycel knows the golf course was once a cornfield.)
When the Van Sycels first came to the Inn, they still had a house on Battle Road, and Mr. Van Sycel would walk from Battle Road to the Inn across the fairway.

"Sometimes in winter I'd pretend I was crossing the Russian steppes, and it wasn't much different, believe me.
I'd come across the Graduate College and golf course in snow and slippery ice, and that icy wind along the fairway!"

Guide. A native of Trenton.

and proud descendant of Van Sycels who came to New Jersey from Holland in 1732, he sent J. S. Van Sycel has found his knowledge of Princeton an invaluable accessory to life at the Inn.

"That print of Procter Hall in the lobby. I've heard people say it must be the chapel. That I'd say. Pardon me, ladies, but that's the dining hall where the graduate students in their black silk gowns eat in common."

And people come out on the terrace and they think the Clock Tower is the chapel, and I'd tell them no, the University Chapel is a mile and a half the other way!"

Mr. Van Sycel enjoys the prints and furnishings assembled in the Inn's early years, chiefly by Mrs. George Winning Fringer and Mrs. Harman Hag-enbuckle, wife of the manager who preceded Mr. Slocum.

He points to the two marque try chests in the Lower Lounge.
They are on loan from Dean Mathey. Two 1800 portraits or over them are the Studdford la-dis, from 'way up in Lambert-ville.

Highboys in the "Exchange,"
an Early American, one Victorian; Audubon prints, including two from the "Elephant Polo," an old and valuable print of Nassau Hall in the corridor, have contributed to the 18th century country house that has been home to Mr. Van Sycel.

Friends of Mine. But it's the people he speaks of with most affection. John Popp, who's been maître d'hôtel for 30 years, Margery Welsh and Helen Glatz of the dining room staff, who will be leaving the Inn and retiring after 22 years of service; Dan Hodgins, who left the Inn's service only recently; Della Mahoney, the waitress who served him for 13 years, and the present Inn manager, Samuel Stewart.

The Inn has had enormous appeal for everyone in Princeton, and especially for the lit

CLOSING THE INN

The Legal Details. Will the Princeton Inn's liquor license, like a snifter of old brandy, simply evaporate into thin air?

When Township liquor licenses came up for their annual renewal before Township Committee Monday night, the Inn's was not there.

It expires June 30, but like all licenses, it has a 30 day period of grace. Samuel Stewart, manager of the Inn, points out that there aren't many places in the Township zoned for a bar. Lower Alexander, Route 296, Leigh Avenue.

The assumption is that Princeton University will probably allow the license to fade away but a spokesman said the matter is still "under study."

The Inn's famous buffet will be spread out the last three nights the Inn is open—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 11, 12, and 13.

The 11 men on the board of directors will, so to speak, be out of a job. They are Dorsey Richardson, chairman; John H. Wallace Jr., George Griffing R. Manning Brown, George R. Cook III, Albert C. Smith III, J. Richardson Dilworth, Richard K. Pavner Jr., James C. Campbell Jr., Richard C. Mestres and Kenneth Chorley.

"I'm the vice president, so I dissuade the corporation," explains Mr. Stewart. "You collect all your bills and pay all your bills, and a government man comes around to see if taxes are paid, and somebody comes from the state to check on sales tax. Then the New Jersey Secretary of State gives you a certificate saying you are now on more."

Committee nomination in Tuesday's primary elections. Mr. Meyer, a newcomer to local politics, polled 566 votes to Mr. Chervy's 279.

In the Borough, Democratic challengers upset incumbents for County Committee posts in two of the three districts where there were contests. In a last minute write-in campaign, Fred Bowen with 88 votes beat Edmund Carroll with 26 votes in District 2.

In the Borough's District 3, Committeewoman challenger Ethel Pankove defeated incumbent Rose Bartolino 55-49. For the committeeman post, Murray Medvin beat Philip T. Carroll, 103-91.

Only in District 5 did Democratic incumbents hold their own against party challengers. Lawrence Ferrara and his wife, Monica, retained their committeeman committeewoman jobs. Mr. Ferrara beat challenger Michael Rockland 50-41, and Mrs. Ferrara defeated Esther Ann Ryan, 48-42.

In the Borough, 27% of the voters cast primary ballots in the Township, 26%. In the Borough, where there was no primary race for Borough Council seats, votes were cast for Democratic candidates as follows: Joseph P. Moore, 684; Martin P. Lombardo, 682. Votes for the two Republicans were Alex F. Wojcikiewicz, 238; Charles L. Taggart, 303.

Township Democrats gave Committee candidate Jav Biehlman 760 complimentary votes.

Princeton resident Robert Andrus, running in the Republican primary against Edward Costigan for the Congressional nomination, polled 228 votes in the Township to Mr. Costigan's 585. The unopposed Democratic Congressional incumbent, Frank Thompson, polled 1,021 Township votes.

In the Borough, Mr. Andrus received 78 Republican votes to Mr. Costigan's 222. Mr. Thompson won 781 votes.

Senator Harrison Williams Jr. won handily in both Borough and Township over Frank J. Guarini, who was seeking the Democratic nomination to the Senate race. In the Borough, the tally was 669 for Sen. Williams, 161 for Mr. Guarini. In the Township, 988 for Sen. Williams, and 78 for Mr. Guarini.

In both municipalities, Nelson G. Gross, Republican party candidate for U.S. Senator, won by large margins over Joseph T. Gavin and James A. Quaranta. His margin in the Township was as high as 5 to 1.

State-wide results gave Sen. Williams a 2-to-1 margin over Mr. Guarini, while Mr. Gross won by better than 3 to 1. Mr. Andrus was unsuccessful in his bid for the Congressional nomination, losing by a 3 to 1 margin in Mercer County but making a much closer run in Hunterdon, Warren and Sussex, which comprise the Fourth District with Mercer.

TOPICS Of The Town

TWO WORKERS KILLED
When Crane Collapses. Two construction workers were killed instantly Tuesday morning when a cable snapped, sending a crane jib crashing into a 28-foot steel sculpture in the plaza of the mathematics physics complex of Princeton University near Washington Road.

Dead are Robert J. Fuccello, 37, of Yardley, Pa., and Edward Dillon, 57, of Trenton. They were pronounced dead at the scene at 11:30 a.m. by Dr. William B. Mather of the University infirmary. Both were employees of the Industrial Engineering Works of Trenton.

Daniel McVicar, 71, Trenton, was treated at Princeton Hospital and released after he was struck on the head by a piece of flying metal from the crane. "He was wearing a steel construction hat and that probably saved his life," said Pti. David Cromwell, who headed the investigation for the Township police.

Other men escaped injury. Leonard J. Morris, 40, of White Horse, who was working on top of the 8,100-pound sculpture with Mr. Fuccello and Frank C. Brewer, 41, of Delran, who was on the ground with Mr. Dillon, the latter a superintendent for the firm.

Boom Starts to Quiver. Police officials told the operation of the cable on Otha D. Hilliard, 57, of Hamilton Square, Pti. Cromwell said with a whimper that the 120-foot boom started to quiver just before the accident happened.

According to Pti. Cromwell, the men were working on the top of the black metal sculpture, which consisted of three sections and were in the process of raising it eight inches to put some plywood beneath one of the legs.

Mr. McVicar had put a bolt in and was walking down a ladder when the cable snapped. Instantly, the 30-foot jib on the end of the 90-foot main boom crashed downward. It trapped Mr. Fuccello, almost severing his arm and leg and ripping his chest open. His body hung head downward for more than three hours until another crane arrived to lift off the jib.

The end of the jib then struck Dillon who was directing the work from the ground on the head. He, too, died instantly from a shattered skull. The operator told police: "They told me to raise it up; I raised it and the cable broke."

The distance from the center of the sculpture to the base of the crane measures 15 feet. The 30-foot jib is tested for 11,000 pounds.

Designed by Alexander Calder, the sculpture is one of 20

commissioned by the University to be installed in various locations on the campus.

Pti. Cromwell is continuing the investigation for the police. James Kopliner of the Princeton security department is conducting the investigation by the University.

PLANNERS AT WORK
On Sites, Plans. The Recreation Commission's $230,000 "Phase I" for continued development of Community Park, was approved Tuesday night by the Regional Planning Board, except for a small detail.

Phase I, the section across Route 206 from the pool, includes such amenities as picnic grounds and a pond. The board had some reservations about the location of the pond.

Other "phases" will be discussed in later sessions between planning board and Recreation Commission.

After a lengthy presentation of site plans for Princeton University's addition to the Princeton Inn, it turned out that the University needn't have appeared at all.

The Township's site plan review board had looked over the plans last week and was disturbed by what planners called "pedestrian-traffic control." In other words, students trooping across Alexander Street to the rest of the campus and milling with delivery trucks and cars parked on the Inn site.

The University was asked to revise, and did so. But the new plans must go back to the site plan group before they can come back to the Planning Board.

The University wants to consolidate some lot lines, and also to gain permission to annex a strip of land west of the Inn which would be either seven or 25 feet wide, depending on the parking rulings of the Township's building inspector.

The strip would be taken from the golf course but only technically: its purpose would be land so the University could comply with floor-area ratio requirements.

CABLE SNAPS, TWO LIVES SNUFFED OUT: When a cable supporting this 120-foot boom snapped Tuesday morning, a 30-foot jib at the end collapsed and snuffed out the lives of two men who were working on a steel sculpture. (Staff Photo)

A jib by Westerly Inc. to Aid to a dining man" commented Committeeman James R. Fuccello, as he heard Foster by Albridge C. Smith III, appearing as counsel for neighbors who live on the Laurel Road side.

Two of the lots would border Route 206 but not "front" on the highway. Cars would reach these lots from the Laurel cul-de-sac via a 10-foot blacktop driveway running along the side of the development, and Mr. Smith protested this. So did residents living on or near the cul-de-sac.

Mr. Smith cited the topography, with its stream and heavy woods, and the small size of the parcel and said that three lots and not four, would be more appropriate.

Replying to a question, A. C. Reeves Hicks, counsel for Westerly, said emergency vehicles could get to the lots from Route 206, but he told the board that access would be closed to regular use by a gate. The board decided to consider Westerly in executive session.

Princeton's incinerator only burns 60% of what's dumped in—the remaining 40% goes into the dump itself, said Mr. Harvey. In other towns, Ew ing Township among them there is only 10% left over. This means no rodents or pests, he said, because the residue is inert. He estimated that a new incinerator would cost Princeton $1,300,000. Even the dump "the sanitary landfill" is in bad shape. The Sewer Operating Committee members, uneasy about the way the dump was gobbling up land, asked engineers to look it over. Verdict: Princeton has abundant landfill.

Mr. Jacobs hopes a current study by the University of its own trash disposal will spill over some tips that Princeton can use for more efficient dump operation.

Mr. Jacobs defended Princeton's sewers. "They do a fairly creditable job," he said, but they are susceptible to heavy rains.

Old clay pipes, joined every two feet, let ground water in like a sieve. Mr. Jacobs also said there are illegal connections throughout the town. Many of them made innocently. But some contractors, he said, "take a hammer, break a hole in the line above the house sewer right in and cover it with dirt."

When these connections are uncovered, the property owner is ordered to reconnect the connection at his own expense. Mr. Jacobs said.

The new seven-town $34 million regional sewer, with good luck, could be operating by 1973. Mr. Jacobs told Committee. The regional sewer group has applied to the state for $1,300,000 in design money. Federal officials say the new system is also eligible for Federal funds.

When the state gives its final approval, design can begin. It will take one year to complete the design, and two more years for construction.

Meanwhile Princeton must refurbish its own collector system. Mr. Jacobs hope the firm of Metcalf and Eddy,

Are you the Class of '53?

Back for their 17th, the cicadas have taken over portions of Princeton as the hot June air is laden with their persistent sound.

The visitors from '53 (and the rest of us) are in for cooler, wetter weather, the Man reports. Rain was the forecast for Wednesday evening and into Thursday, with further showers also a Friday possibility. The week-end is expected to be generally fair and warm.

now working on the regional system, can be retained to plan also for Princeton's Joint Sewer Operating Committee. He said the Joint Committee might come to Borough and Township this fall asking for money. Mr. Floyd urged even greater haste, if possible, and other Committeemen agreed.

I think the Sewer Operating Committee over the years has been less than candid about the need for money," Mr. Floyd declared.

Mr. Jacob shrugged. "We've gotten so used to being turned down nobody on public bid we have shown any interest up to now."

The Open Space Committee asked Committee again not to lay future sewer lines in the flood plain, or in the base of waterways.

Committee introduced the police department ordinance and scheduled public hearing for Monday, June 15. This ordinance implementing recommendations of the recent police survey, makes the police chief responsible to the Township Administrator for the "conduct, efficiency and management" of the police department.

It also establishes a new Police Committee consisting of the Administrator, Mayor and the Committeeman who has the Police Commissioner as a member. This committee would handle appeals from disciplinary action.

Committee also appropriated $9,000 for improving Open Space lands. Public hearing June 15.

THEFTS REPORTED

In Witherspoon St. Area. A series of breaking and entering — two of which were successful — took place last week on Witherspoon Street. At 6:10 a.m. last Wednesday police received a report of the ransacking and theft of a type writer from the Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church on the corner of Witherspoon and Maclean. At 8:29 a.m., Earl Smith, 150 Witherspoon, called to report a clock radio, adding machine and tools had been stolen from his home. Police said entry was gained through a cellar window.

Peter Gross, a roomer at 152 Witherspoon reported at 8:42 a.m. that two radios, a kitchen clock and a stereo receiver had been taken from the building after a kitchen door had been kicked in.

Still later, Henry Wilson, also of 152 Witherspoon, reported someone entered his room between 1:30 and 1:30 Thursday afternoon and had taken $200 from his dresser drawer. He also listed losing a $10 electric shaver and four record albums worth $20. A screen from a second floor rear window had been removed to gain entry, police said.

Police added that there were unsuccessful attempts made to enter Motor Parts, 190 Witherspoon, and Aljuna's Submarine Shop, 157 Witherspoon.

REUNIONS UNDER WAY
Commencement on Tuesday. A heavy schedule of alumni reunion events and graduation ceremonies begins this Thursday at Princeton University. An estimated 4,000 alumni, wives and children are expected to attend the three-day reunion, which will be highlighted by films, forums, tours, open houses and the annual parade.
On Sunday, the Baccalaureate Service for the graduating seniors will be held at 11 in the University Chapel with an address by President Robert F. Kennedy. A Symposium on American Involvement in Indo-China is scheduled for Monday sponsored by the Class of 1970. The 223rd commencement exercises will be held at 11 on Tuesday in front of Nassau Hall.

Reunion Forums. The faculty alumni forums will range the broad spectrum of the concerns of society — from campus unrest through ghetto economics to population problems and the role of the press. Among the topics will be discussion of the specific activities that have grown out of Princeton's campus reactions to the situation in Southeast Asia; the non-coercive "strike against the war"; the role of the University in today's society, and consideration of the perspectives of the war in Indo-China.

The faculty alumni programs begin at 2 p.m. Thursday with a discussion of "Power Over the Media: The News Media" in McCormick Hall. Panelists are Don Durgin, Class of 1945 president of NBC-TV; Peter M. Flaugon, '45, special assistant to President Nixon; and Peter H. Prugh, '60, Wall Street Journal reporter. Irving Dillard, former editor of the St. Louis Post Dispatch editorial page.

PLAYHOUSE

Women in Love (now playing) is a film for the many admirers of novelist D. H. Lawrence who were disappointed in previous screen adaptations of his works ("Sons and Lovers," "The Fox" and "Lady Chatterley's Lover"). It is also obviously for people interested in the subject of sex on an intellectual plane. And surprising both groups in size is the third—the ones who prefer to have their sex sensationalized. "Women in Love" will appeal to them, too.

Alan Bates and Oliver Reed, two major British actors, bring the characters of Rupert (the school inspector) and Gerald (the mine owner's son) to life with all the ambiguities of their friendship put eloquently across.

Charlotte Jackson, who was Gladette Corday in "Marat Sade," makes an absolutely brilliant Godron, the restless schoolteacher with ideas too advanced for the town. Jennie Linden plays her sister, Ursula. The two pairs of love affairs are effectively contrasted, with all of the subtleties of the inter-relationships sustained. If some of the things seem dated and naive, the blame has to lie with Lawrence.

PRINCE and TRENT

Boys in the Band (now playing) is a faithful adaptation of the hit off-Broadway play by Mart Crowley. It deals with homosexuality, although the playwright's treatment of his material is too lightweight to dramatize the plight of the homosexual.

Funny lines come so fast they almost trip over each other as the five homosexuals descend on the apartment of the host who is honoring the 32nd birthday of a mutual friend. The festive mood changes as an unwitting guest arrives — an old school chum of the host. The revellers, who have been getting increasingly drunk, are coerced into a "truth" game in which they must call up someone they loved in secret in the past. Revelations of old loves, old guilts and old regrets turns the film from comedy to melancholy drama.

The ensemble playing of an uncommonly gifted cast from the stage show is headed by Kenneth Nelson as the host with the tongue of an adder.

GARDEN

Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice (now playing) is an American sex comedy about modern marriage and morals. The starring foursome are Robert Culp, Natalie Wood, Elliott Gould and Dyan Cannon.

The story concerns marital infidelity, wife-swapping and communal love. It begins with the stage show is headed by a successful lawyer, Gould and his wife, Miss Cannon. (Miss Wood) spending a week end at one of those resorts where bored jet-setters learn to "communicate" in a totally free environment, regaining the joy of life, etc. They return full of enthusiasm and convert their closest friends, successful lawyer, Gould and his wife, Miss Cannon.

ARE WAGE AND PRICE CONTROLS THE ANSWER to inflation? Possibly, says Walt Carllidge (right) but he fears too much government control of the economy could lead to socialism. Glen Davis backs such controls, saying that unions are "deliberately overpaid." (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: As a means to help check the country's rising inflation would you be willing to submit to federal wage and price controls?

Where asked: Around town.

Glen Davis, Van Kirk Road, Princeton, N.J., because unions are overpaid, definitely overpaid. The economy is going down and if prices keep going up then pretty soon no one will be able to afford anything. Wages are especially high in the building trades—this is an un-unionized.

Walt Carllidge, Hamilton, Carpenter's helper. Possibly in favor. If it were possible to control prices for a short period of time it would be good but the government today has too much control over prices and industry and before long if the trend continues we'll be under socialism in a matter of a few years. That's no good. After socialism comes communism.

Jan Hunt, Pennington, office clerk at the University Store. Yes, I'd be in favor. If we don't have some kind of control, prices will continually soar. But why control wages, too. If you can control prices then people wouldn't be worried about money so much, they wouldn't be asking for or need such high wages.

Patricia Fox, Lambertville, office clerk at the University Store. I tend to agree with Jean. If the government could find a way to control prices there wouldn't be any need to control wages.

Art Terris, Chemistry Department, Princeton University, instructor. Definitely opposed to it. It's just a stop-gap measure. It's quite obvious to everyone by now what is causing inflation—it's the war in Southeast Asia. The way to end inflation is not through federal legislation but to end the war in Southeast Asia.

Tom Naughton, Lawrence Road, truck driver. Yes, I think it would be worthwhile because it would restrain the capitalist and labor elements from exploiting the general public and salaried employees.

Budge Gere, Princeton Theological Seminary student, head resident. Pyne Hall. No, not yet. Simply because such controls cause other problems that we don't have already.

Roger Davis, Laughlin Hall, resident fellow, English Literature.

Yes. I would. I think inflation has become a very serious problem and I think if President Nixon and his advisors felt this was necessary to help check inflation, I would be willing to submit to it. I would hope, however, that it would be for a very limited period. I think otherwise it would get out of hand.

Chap Fisher, Holder Hall, University junior. Books have been written about this question. Personally, I think there are better ways to handle it. Wage and price controls are usually extreme measures. The only problem with wage and price controls is that you are interfering with what Adam Smith calls "the invisible hand" the way the economy normally is guided by supply and demand. There are several ways to handle inflation and right now, Nixon is pursuing most of them. You can tighten up the Federal Reserve Board which he is doing. Unfortunately, he is also increasing government spending and at the same time, raising the limit of the national debt—neither of which is designed to stop inflation. I don't think we need wage and price controls yet. But if it continues the way it is going on gets worse, then wage and price controls are acceptable methods in a crisis. They can be used without the world coming apart. They're not a big bugaboo.

Jerry Menella, 33 Harris Road, student. It depends on what form and how long it goes on. I can see doing it for a while because it would be good to get the economy back to where it was. But I think this should only be a temporary move.

IT'S NEW To Us

THE LANE OF SHOPS
At "The Cool Fete," 11:30 called "The Cool Fete" this year, because funds raised at the annual Princeton Hospital fair on Saturday, the 13th will be used to air-condition the remainder of the hospital. But you may find it hard to keep your cool when you browse through the Lane of Shops, planned by Mrs. Robert S. Garber and Mrs. Edwin D. Rogers of the Hospital Auxiliary.

Artist Adelle C. Wolf will be there in the Art Gallery to do portraits in charcoal and pencil, so here's your chance for an enchanting memento of your child's halcyon days. The Art Gallery will feature works by professional and amateur painters. For the first time, there'll be prints to browse through. Mrs. Albert Westefeld is chairman.

There will be a boutique, a Stag Line Shop, Fabrics Plus, a Carousel shop and a flea market in the Lane of Shops. Here are some of the offerings the committee has told us about:

The Boutique is going in for custom tailoring in vivid colors, and Gregory Sant' Angelo belts, jewelry and bracelets. There are some great terrycloth ponchos for the beach, two-toned skirts for golf, and polo skirts and pants in cool, cool cottons.

Basket-type pocketbooks will feature owls, frogs, mushrooms and tigers painted on the lids. And there are small canvas totes with matching hats.

The Boutique also branches out into whatnots — such as decorated wastepaper baskets, trays, book ends, and small mirrors. And it will again have the brightly decorated patio trash cans, rural mailboxes and gardening carry-alls that were so popular last year.

In the Stag Line Shop, managed by Mrs. William Burchfield, will be sports and hobby books and equipment. You'll find military uniforms (just what you've been needing), a stamp collection, an archery set, and even sports coats.

Fabrics Plus will have beautiful panels of Afro-Indian cloth called "dashiki." This exotic cotton print comes two yards wide and has unending possibilities from drapes to dresses. For those who love to sew, there will be woolens, cottons, quilting pieces, trimmings, bias tapes, cording and even zippers.

Boys and girls will want to shop at the Carousel, which is filled with allowance priced and unusual toys and games. The list includes small wooden trains, loose-leaf notebooks with psychedelic designs for Peanuts), and mice by the dozen — a mouse bride, a mouse soldier, and others.

There's no telling what you'll find at the flea market. Mrs. Albert Stives has rounded up small silver, copper and brass items, as well as pieces of glass items, china and jewelry.

The Hospital Fete will also include an auction, games and entertainments for the children, a midway, garden section, a rock marathon, and, thoughtfully, food to take home.

DYE-IT-YOURSELF

At The Green Bred, "The Green Bred" is by all odds the newest idea at the Princeton Hospital Fete. After consulting with young people, the co-chairmen decided to make available exotic and custom-made items never before collected in one place. They topped it off with "do it yourself" shirts.

Anyone wishing to "do his own thing" will be able to try his hand at tie-dyeing. Hundreds of white T-shirts from Fruit-of-the-Loom will be tied and dyed by customers at "The Green Bred."

Items to be offered in pre-decorated form will include African Dashikis, leather belts.

THE EYE FOR ART, a graphics gallery on Spring Street, was opened just recently by Helen Benedict, a Princeton resident for little 33 years, and a graphic artist herself. A native of Little Neck, Long Island, she finds only one drawback to life in Princeton, "I miss the smell of the sea."

It's New To Us

and bags from Guatemala, and many locally etched and custom made items.

THE ARTS CONTINUE

On Spring Street A new gallery "The Eye for Art," has just opened at 7 Spring Street under the ownership of Helen Benedict. This gives us four galleries in the immediate Witherspoon Spring Street area to browse in. And, to set the mood, there are pots of flowers along Spring Street.

The Eye for Art has graphics and more graphics — English, French, American, Japanese. There are antiquities, maps, sculpture, Nicholas Dean photographs and pretty soon a full line of art supplies will be stocked on the shelves. You can have matted a work of commercial graphics work.

Mrs. Benedict will be putting up some of the old prints up on the wall, she says. "A lot of them come from the Hicks Street Gallery in Brooklyn Heights. Mrs. Graham Keller, the former owner of the Hicks Street Gallery, moved to Princeton, and brought her prints with her."

The old prints have a special charm, ranging from a steel engraving of "Trinity College from College Green, Dublin" to the hand colored etching "View of the Brecon Estate and Vicinity Between Fifth and Sixth Streets Near 1st Avenue." (The Brecon is $25.50).

Printed on one wall are two pages from "The Herbarium," published in 1633 by John Gerard and Thomas Johnson. Next are artists' proofs and their own eye moves to the dramatic taglio prints of Yanick Ruffin, a French artist, and to the whimsical work of Giacinto Tello Haulander.

There are prints of creamy flattened discs by Polish artist Barbara Kwasniewski and aquatints by the Portuguese Bartolomeu Dos Santos. Fried under one of the great figures in the graphic art world and several of his student are represented. Equally interesting, to our eye, are the beautiful drypoint drawings of Donald Werdo of Pennington. You'll also find Japanese art is represented.

And, almost an exhibit by itself is the old brass-copper coin of 1786, framed with glass in back as well as in the front, so that you can take it down from the wall and see the obverse. ($75.)

Photography is a field that interests Mrs. Benedict, and she has started The Eye for Art with a full folio of work by Nicholas Dean. She is going to get more. Photography is one thing that I want to start opening up.

A graphics artist herself, concentrating mainly on wood cuts — Mrs. Benedict studied at the Princeton Graphics Workshop for Visiting Artists in New York. She was a student of Prestopino, a member of the Princeton Graphics Workshop when it was at 12 Nassau, and for a year, ran a letterpress for Cambridge Press. She moved to Spring Street from Trumpler Gallery at 20 Nassau.

FROM THE WATCH SHOP

A Braerli of Memories. Graduating seniors, interested as they are in what's going to happen next, still look back on the past four years with a certain amount of nostalgia. If R. Kalmus at The Watch Shop, 601 Chambers Street, has stocked a vast variety of charms for a girl's bracelet and you can key in her school memories with the charms as you choose.

A telephone? Undoubtedly. A tennis racket? A high-tech music clef? A typewriter? An artist's palette? A zodiac symbol? And perhaps you'll want to add a four-leaf clover for good luck or a blue bird for happiness.

For Princeton High School graduates, The Watch Shop has 14 K gold discs engraved with the name of the school around the edge. To the center there's room for initials and date. There are some too with a small pearl in the center, or a motherboard, or a tiny diploma. The PHS exclusives with The Watch Shop can be worn on a chain or added to a charm bracelet.

The charms are in either gold or silver, as you wish. I tried to get the PHS discs in silver. Mr. Kalmus says ruefully, "but I couldn't."

Watches are a memorable gift to any senior. We noticed Wittnauer's new pendant watch, a small globe on a slim chain with tiny gold markings on the blue watch case ($50). There are self-winding watches which are much in demand, dress watches, elegant watches, and popular with young men, the guaranteed water proof "skindivers" watches.

You'll recognize the brands Longines, Wittnauer, Universal Technos, Benrus, Cronos, Elgin. There's also the Balva Accutron Mr. Kalmus believes he has easily 300 watches in stock.

A new line of low priced watches has been introduced by Longines Wittnauer and it's called Jubilee. These are jewel watches that start in price at $15.95.

The self-winding watches are $65 to $70 and up. There's also a watch that looks like a Kodak and it is only $15.95, but don't jump into the pool with it.

The Tower at Princeton

The Tower at Princeton will provide a type of prestige office space which has never before been available in New Jersey. The eleven story Tower on its wooded thirteen acre site in Princeton is scheduled for completion during 1971.

Ten office floors will be available, each containing 7,050 ft. of rentable space. Office areas will be unobstructed by interior columns. No segment of rentable space will be farther than thirty feet from the exterior window wall, which will provide sweeping views over three counties.

Designed by the firm of Collins Uhl Hoisington Anderson, the Tower has been conceived to incorporate the latest architectural advancements in flexible, quality office planning. All office areas will be fully carpeted and equipped with a colored acoustical integrated ceiling system on a 5'-0" by 5'-0" module. Each module will provide its own lighting as well as heating and air conditioning distribution. The ceiling tracks on the five foot module lines will receive easily demountable full height vinyl covered partitions at any point. This system will provide total flexibility in office layout since partitioning can be reconfigured at any time with no required modifications to floor or wall surfaces or to mechanical and electrical systems.

Other general services and facilities will include individual controls for heating and air conditioning, windows with solar bronze glass and adjustable vertical blinds, high speed automatic elevators, and on site parking for over 500 cars. Complete janitorial and maintenance service and all utilities are included in the rentals.

Large areas of top quality space for corporate and professional office use have up to now been unavailable in Princeton. The Tower at Princeton has been specifically designed to provide this space. Further inquiries are invited by mail to Collins Uhl Hoisington Anderson, 33 State Road, Princeton, New Jersey or by phone to 609-921-6065.

VANDALISM PREVENTS
Over the weekend, there was a rash of vandalism taking place reported by Michael Caravale of the Borough.

A plate glass window in the front door of the George Marks Laundry, 113 Watersong Street, was broken in at 11:30 Saturday night. A few minutes later the door to Dunner's Barber Shop next to an entrance of the Nassau Inn was also broken in. Two suspects were seen in the hallway of the Inn 12 Carnevale said.

The next day, the windshield of a car parked in front of 152 Watersong Street, owned by Lillian Green, 4 Greenwood Avenue, Kingston, was broken. Three panes of glass were broken in an unsuccessful attempt to enter the attendant's shack at the entrance of the Palmer Square parking lot next to the Princeton Playhouse.

Sunday night at 10:45, a front door window of the Princeton Recreation Bowling Lanes, 138 Nassau Street, was broken. Asked if he thought the acts of vandalism were connected, Lt. Carnevale replied that he did.

In an apparent unrelated incident, gasoline was used to set fire to the fence surrounding the construction site of parent to Firststone Library.

Acting on a telephone call, P.D. David Alston and P.D. Victor Pasanella put out the blaze with extinguishers from their patrol car. The fire was started 10:30 Friday night, about 75 feet west of Washington Road.

Distrust for School Board.

To the Editor of Town Topics: When will the Princeton Regional Board of Education find time to listen to complaints of the taxpaying public? We have the feeling that we were taken for a ride again at the public meeting on Tuesday evening. The meeting had the aura of a Friday afternoon assembly of students rather than an adult meeting of concerned parents and School Board members trying to understand each other.

No one can deny that the Student Coalition must have a vocal expression. The point of order here lies in the fact that they should air their views before their school committees, thence to the school principal and thence to the Board of Education. If the Coalition wants to be treated as an adult group, they must be prepared to follow adult rules.

We take strong issue with the Board President, Dr. Marks, for allowing this sham to proceed. The only result from a meeting such as the one which we just witnessed is continued and increasing distrust of the Board of Education.

FRANK L. QUINBY

"Strike" Time Beneficial.

To the Editor of Town Topics: It was evident from the clear, well thought out presentation of the Board of Education meeting on Tuesday, May 26, that a great many students had learned a great deal from the workshop discussions that followed the "strike."

People go to school on the average about 20 years of their life. After that, they must go out and fend for themselves and make a place in the world.

Many parents are concerned that students are not learning anything if they are not sitting in a classroom being taught by the teacher. But all parents must realize that they didn't stop learning when they left school!

They have continued, voluntarily or not, to learn all their life long, even though they have not set foot in a classroom again; by experience, by exposure, by contact with family, friends, job, recreation.

They have learned how to get along with and communicate with people, hopefully even with their own children! Some of the most important and useful things one may ever learn in life are learned outside of a classroom.

So it seems to me that learning can and should take place both inside formal classroom situations and outside of them. I hope the School Board will allow for this kind of flexible open school, for those that are eager to benefit from that type of education, as well as for the other more conventional one. Also I will make a plea here to those who have been calling for a complete halt to this "ridiculous strike": I think it is vital for everyone to realize what a beneficial exercise in self communication this experience has been to a lot of people.

Thoughts on Adults.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Lately I have felt very confused and bothered by a contradiction that has appeared very prominently these past weeks.

High School students are constantly being told to act like young adults. Yet when they do so by acting admirably and maturely and by expressing their feelings in a crisis that is affecting their entire lives they are told they are merely children and have no right to disagree with or to work again at an assurance that they supposedly "don't understand." In other words we are adults if we behave discreetly and dutifully in the present system and are children if we contend and are children if we contend.

For me, it is the other way around. To me a true adult is open minded and unselfish. Of course she or he should be allowed to have powerful feelings on the events of today, but they also realize that there are not the only ideas and to know the whole story they must wait their minds for every idea without being ready to pre-judge.

And if he or she are real adults they are not afraid to change their minds and are not condemning and cynical to ward those who are not their peers or those who don't share the same feelings.

I believe there are many people, young and old, who are adults. But I feel there are many who are not adults. They are still children, who by not allowing themselves to grow, are regressing. Quote Bob Dylan: "He not busy being born is busy dying."

I don't think a majority of people abide by the warped idea of what an adult is. If they did, I don't think I could ever become one. I'd keep on learning and keep on growing but I'd never be able to consider myself an adult. And the people who believed they have reached adulthood would continue. But for the only thing they will have reached is an acute state of "dolt" hood.

Thank You Very Much.

Office Building Opposed.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I understand an 11 story high rise office building may be erected next fall on Mt. Lucas and Herrington Roads. An architect's rendering of this building shows it to be another monstrosity which, if repeated often enough, will turn the outskirts of Princeton into another Trenton.

It is a monstrosity because the building is completely unrelated to its rural surroundings. It is a product of myopic vision blind to what is really happening: rape of the countryside; a product conceived by men indifferent to the needs and desires of the neighbor hood unaware of all values except one - financial gain.

Zoning for that area now permits such conduct. It shouldn't.

It shouldn't permit such conduct anywhere in rural areas. If the people of Princeton care enough about keeping the town the oasis between New York City and Philadelphia it still is the people should act by making their feelings known. Because what happens even on the outskirts of a town affects or in this case "infects" the whole town: a vein of the town and the town, the heart of it, dies. Unless measures are taken to stop the infection.

For example, if this monument to man's indifference to man at Mt. Lucas and Herron town Roads goes up, what follows? Mt. Lucas Road will be widened at one (already part of the plan to take care of the traffic increase) first 10 feet... Down come trees and hedges already the cars are 5 or 10 feet closer to your living room; another year or two, another 3 feet? And then a four lane highway like 206 eliminates your living room altogether or makes life so nerve-jumping you sell for what you can get what was once a pleasant place.

Is this exaggeration?
Note this eyesore called a "building" includes a parking lot for 500 cars! Even now traffic has increased where Terhune joins Mt. Lucas to such a degree a traffic light is being considered.
Let's not fool ourselves: business attracts business. If this "building" includes a parking lot for 500 cars, what else is it elsewhere on the outskirts. With attendant gas stations and shops, not to mention the dubious enterprises such as afflict the eye and paralyze the nerves on the way to Trenton, no matter from what direction you approach that once beautiful (we are told) town.

Unwelcome Building.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The carbon dioxide fumes from the Professional Building Parking Lot on Mt. Lucas Road seems to have dizzied the heads of the money seeking tenants while the rest of Princeton has been trying (belatedly) to make a little ecological sense for our environs. Not content with building a large office building and adding hundreds of cars daily to lower Mt. Lucas Road, Architect Philip Collins and Company now propose to further uppper Mt. Lucas Road with an eleven-story building for corporate infiltration of hundreds more people with their respective cars. Princeton has some important needs, such as good middle income apartments for the people who are already here, but the corporate office space is THE LAST need for an already crowded town.

Mt. Lucas Road is one of the oldest roads in town and like many others is not the place for such megalomaniac concepts. If Mr. Collins and Company need to line their own wallets so badly, why do they not consider the nearby areas of Route 139 and the New Jersey Turnpike or Route 1, where industry spreads itself along those main arteries for business and trucking.

Even Trenton and New Brunswick could stand a little well designed corporate boost to their hodgepodge skyline of no taste at all! The residents of Mt. Lucas Road, as well as other lovely streets in Princeton, will not welcome corporate office buildings in our midst, and responsible citizens know that much.

Rep. Thompson Replies.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Callender, in response to one written by them that appeared in the May 28 issue of TOWN TOPICS.

FRANK THOMPSON JR.
Washington, D. C.
I regret that because of the unusually heavy response, we have had to resort to a form letter to answer letters regarding the Cambodian invasion. Unfortunately, as sometimes will be the case, even at the White House, the wrong letter is sent out to you.
You may be interested to what that of the letters I have received to date, 131 support President Nixon's Cambodian invasion, and 2,617 oppose his move.

I think you can well understand that it would be utterly impossible to respond to this volume of mail on an individual basis.
Of course, you will not mind if I release this letter to the press.

Tribute to PHIS Ball Team.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Princeton High School should feel proud of its baseball team that, as Coach Zoll said in his closing remark, "had enough guts and determination to come out for the final game," after a long, hard, losing season. Keep these names in mind because you will be hearing about them later in life as men who did not quit when the going was rough:

Anderson, Bannon, Dimitruk, Grover, Pettus, Bruschi, Di Meglio, Boccanfuso, Crosby, Campbell, Rossi, Hodges and Richards. These are the boys who upheld Princeton High School's high standards of sportsmanship. And how about Coach Zoll, who never hiew up against the umpires!

Planning in Princeton Junction.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
In reply to Mr. Kahn's letter in the May 28 issue of TOWN TOPICS one would think that he (Mr. Kahn) was the final authority on "What is Correct and What is Not Correct" in Municipal Planning and the Home Building Field!

Fortunately Mr. Kahn is expressing just his opinion which everyone is entitled to do.

My opinion and incidentally that of the vast majority of my neighbors is that the Township Leaders have planned carefully and far in advance for the proper development of West Windsor.

I would say that our Town Ship Leaders are to be commended and that our community is shaping up as an outstanding one in which to live.

I believe it is up to the individual to enhance his property and thus give it character. You see I don't feel disturbed about living on a straight street full of these colonials. Especially since I have wonderful neighbors who take pride in their properties.

In closing I might add that I am quite pleased at the increased value of my property since I moved here just 3 1/2 years ago. What more could I want Mr. Kahn?

P.S. I noticed Mr. Kahn lives in a Colonial.

Fair Highly Successful.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Many thanks to you for publicizing the activities of the West Windsor PTA during this past year. Programs and events have been well received and participation has increased. Your help in getting the news out to the people has contributed to this success.

I wish to thank you particularly for the excellent coverage you gave the West Windsor PTA Fair. Record crowds—estimated at 3,000 people attended and sunshine graced the day. The people manning the booths never worked harder and everyone seemed to have a good time. The final tally isn't in, but early returns indicate—

Parents Disillusioned.

To the Editor of Towp Topics:
 Some Princeton parents are finding the Princeton education too liberal and less than represented. A prime cause of resentment is that these parents do not regard themselves as globs of plasma to be molded by elitist hands into desired shapes, nor do they wish their children to be so used by a small and organized band of elitist classmates.

At the school board meeting on May 26, some members of the board and of course, Mr. McPherson, bumbled on at great length what he referred to as the democratic "Process" (sic). (Evidently the pilot rail of "process.")

In setting the rules for the democratic process of the meeting, the board president John Marks, announced that no questions would be entertained about the appointment of Miss Burke as principal, a wasted prime time in the open portion of the meeting when other members who had previously been made privy to the meeting agenda for the reading of prepared statements and allowed persons wishing to discuss the competency of the board had no chance to speak.

While no mention was made of the time previously lost by students in such subjects as geometry or English, this may have been more than compensated for by a striking demoralization of how to pack the meeting agenda and gag the opposition practices regarded by some as the control.

Why were the "strikers" not subjected to the law concerning compulsory education of children? Why were those over sixteen not suspended or expelled as they were in South Toms River? Do the children know, or for that matter does the board know that any child between the ages of seven and sixteen years who shall repeatedly be absent from school shall be deemed to be a juvenile delinquent person or juvenile delinquent, and shall be proceeded against as such?

Why did the attendance officer cut extra his keep? Any attendance officer who shall find that any child between 7 and 16 years of age who is absent from school, shall take and deliver him to the parent, guardian or other person having charge and control of the child, or to the teacher of the school which such child is lawfully required to attend. Why were numerous not-attended parents who aided and abetted truuant children as disorderly persons?

Is the Board aware that its power is limited? Does the Board actually believe it has the power to authorize or approve truancy, especially mass truancy? If so, what, is the source of this power?

Does the Board believe that it, or the Superintendent of Schools, or the faculty, or any member of the faculty, or the children, have the right to decide the truancy at any given time is what they themselves choose from time to time to make? What are the criteria used to determine whether or not non-attendance is permissible conduct or whether it is juvenile delinquency?

In the next strike, will the Board take formal action to substitute the cause of the truancy for regularly scheduled classes? If not, who will make the substitution? The faculty alone, the individual teachers, the janitor, Mr. McPherson? Who made the decision this time?

Does the Board intend to rect use of democratic processes (processes?)

The law as it is laid down by our Legislature with respect to the rights, duties and especially the limitations of members of school boards was not touched upon.

Only Mr. Pike, one out of nine members, expressed dissatisfaction that several questions, going to the heart of parents' disquiet, went unanswered. Those questions remain unanswered.

PARADE IS MARRIED

By Demonstration. Princeton's Memorial Day parade—which was actually held the previous evening for the first time—ended in a bloodless demonstration near the Battle Monument between Legionnaires and other towns people lined up on one side and about 40 SDS demonstrators and high school students on the other.

Police made no arrests. But Lt. Michael Carnevale described it as "a very odd situation, a very volatile thing."

According to police, a group of Students for a Democratic Society demonstrators and some high school students started off from Nassau Hall and approached Nassau Street. Two borough officers stationed at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets prevented them from participating in the parade.

but the group later assembled behind the line of march. They ended up at the monument near Borough Hall.

There, the group attempted to add a coffin to the setting, but they were ordered to stop by Lt. Carnevale. Sixteen uniformed police officers and two Princeton mayors managed to prevent any eruptions. The group finally dispersed around 9 p.m.

It marked the second year in a row that the parade has been marred by demonstrations. Last year, a group of young people interrupted the services by shouting insults to those taking part in them.

The previous year, the Memorial Day wreath was removed.

ADDITIONS APPROVED

To Princeton Hospital. The Borough Zoning Board last week stamped its approval on plans of the Princeton Hospital to build a new $225,000 emergency department and relocate a slightly larger maintenance shop in the northeast corner of the building.

The one-story addition would fill the courtyard leading to the present emergency entrance between the administrative building and the main training shop. In addition to a large emergency room, the new addition would house eight examination booths, a chest room, x-ray facilities, three doctors' rooms for personal examinations plus quarters for the doctors, three observation beds and a quiet room for psychiatric patients. Present emergency facilities consist of three cubicles and two observation beds.

Administrator John Kauffman recited figures that mirrored a dramatic rise in the use of emergency rooms at the hospital. In 1952 when the emergency department was opened it had about 3,000 admissions. Ten years later, admissions had doubled to 6,753. Five years later, in 1967, it doubled again to 12,738. It took only two more years for it to double again when Mr. Kauffman reported that emergency admissions exceeded 24,000 in 1969. The enacted figure for 1970 is 26,000.

The fact is, he stated, the emergency room at the hospital has supplanted for many the family doctor. "When you can't find a doctor, you can always find one at Princeton Hospital," he said.

Dr. Thomas J. Cartelvou, Chief of the Department of Emergency Service at the hospital told the board, "To do any kind of job at all we just have to have more room to do it." He said three other doctors work full time at the hospital in the emergency section.

The board granted the two things that Homer Zink, attorney for the hospital, asked for: a special use permit and a variance from a residential four zone requirement that limits maximum coverage to 30 percent. With the addition of the new emergency unit, the hospital's coverage reached 47 percent. Both additions are located in the Borough. The hospital still needs site approval.

trying to arrange such for the Princeton Hospital. The chances of arranging it will be greatly increased if New Jersey has two four-year medical schools, a number which would still leave us behind other states of our size and even smaller.

Legislation proposing amalgamation of the Rutgers and Newark Schools of Medicine speak of the desirability of providing more practitioners of medicine for New Jersey. This is a goal to which all can subscribe, but the methods prescribed will have the opposite effect.

What we must have and must afford is two—or more—strong schools of medicine with strong programs in community medicine and psychiatry to render service to the people of our state, attract doctors to the area, and interest and prepare young physicians for the practice of medicine in New Jersey.

WILLARD DALRYMPLE, M.D.
Director, Princeton University Health Services

from the Joint Planning Board.

The board, in giving its approval, said that the hospital had presented a need for such facilities. To those who say why doesn't the hospital stop growing, pick up and move out to the country, Mr. Kauffman reported that such a study had just been completed. Its finding: to build outside and to duplicate what the hospital has now would cost $32 million.

Tree House Joined. The board gave permission to Bellows, 210 Nassau Street, to construct a corridor that would join its main store with its Tree House on the corner of Nassau and Moore Streets. The street side of the 39-foot long corridor would have a display window. In addition, a room would extend off to the rear, all adding up to 500 square feet.

In August, 1969, Bellefonte Inc., owner of Bellows, had obtained from the board the

In view of its earlier approval and based on the lesser decrease on non-conformity of the corridor, the board recommended to Mayor and Council that a use variance be issued.

In a third case, Charles J. Draine was given a conditional use authorization to convert the second floor of 166 Nassau Street from apartment to a store. Mr. Draine, who owns the four-story building, told the board he would use about half of the space himself for expansion of his real estate and insurance business.

Part of his odd shaped lot is presently occupied by a temporary cul-de-sac which

LAVINTHAL'S CHILDREN'S SHOES ARE LEATHER

Can your shoe store make the same claim?

Leather is doing a disappearing act in most children's shoes and that includes the brand names you are buying. Those companies probably are using man-made materials for the innersole of their shoes. That's the most important part of a child's shoe — the part on which the foot rests.

Man-made materials just can't match leather for its "breathability" which dissipates perspiration naturally. ALL of our everyday children's shoes have leather innersoles.

If your child's feet are very damp when you remove his shoes it could be from a man-made innersole.

Bring us the shoe. If its innersole isn't leather we'll sell you a pair that is.

will revert to Mr. Stonaker when Bainbridge is extended through to Harriet Drive. When this occurs he will not be in violation but Mr. Stonaker, who wants to build now, told the board without the variance he would be forced to eliminate his proposed garage.

VOLUNTEER AWARD GIVEN

By Community Services Council, Mrs. Floyd Campbell, a native Princetonian and energetic volunteer worker, has been presented the 1970 Award for Community Services by the Council of Community Services at its annual luncheon last week.

The engraved silver plaque presented by Mrs. Leslie L. Vivan Jr., was awarded to Mrs. Campbell for "the quality of her service as a dedicated volunteer." In receiving the award, Mrs. Campbell commented: "All my work has been done because I love Princeton."

Currently on the Board of the Princeton Adult School and the Family Service Agency, Mrs. Campbell is Clerk of the Session at Witherspoon Church. She was a member of the recent Pay Day Cancer Detection Committee and on the Heart Fund Drive.

Her past services as a volunteer have covered many areas of community life. She has worked in the public schools on the PTA and as a room mother. By serving on the Board of Princeton Nursery School, she followed the steps of her mother-in-law, who was also on the board, and set standards for her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Moore, who is currently a board member. In addition, three generations of her family have attended the school.

Mrs. Campbell's other volunteer organizations have included the executive committee of the New Brunswick Presbytery, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the board of the Elizabeth Taylor Byrd Fund, and a member of the United Fund neighborhood team. A grandmother, she is currently employed at Claytons.

Edmund P. Hums, commissioner of the N. J. Department of Community Affairs, replaced Governor William T. Cahill as speaker for the annual meeting which attracted more than 100 persons.

A. C. Reeves Hicks was elected president of the Council for a two year term at the meeting. Also elected were Ralph Maher, first vice president; Mrs. George H. Freeman, fourth vice president; and Mrs. David O. Johnson, secretary. Directors elected were: Mrs. Fred Fields, class of 1971; Max Blumenfeld, Jack Cooper, Carl Fields, Mrs. Sheldon Hackney, Charles Henderson, W. Robert Martin, and Mrs. James E. Ward, class of 1972.

The Council's annual report, distributed at the meeting and available from its office, cited highlights of the year's work of the social services planning and coordinating agency. The most important work included the coordinating activities of the Sub Committee on Drugs, which is investigating and reporting on drug abuse and present facilities and programs for the Borough and Township.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET

No PHIS Decision Yet. The principalship of Princeton High School still hasn't been settled yet. The school board will hold a public meeting Tuesday at 8 in Community Park School, but there is no clear indication that an announcement will be made.

The Wednesday Program is on the agenda for discussion by public and board, and the board has said it will vote on whether to continue the program next year.

Middle School proposals for multi-level classes and the substitution of evaluation for letter grades, will also be discussed Tuesday.

FINE GOES UP

Parking Violations: $4. Over-time parkers will pay $4 starting June 15 for snuggling up too long against a Borough meter. The fine has been $2.

The increase was approved this week by Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfield, acting at the request of Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams.

Other fines will go up, too, for such offenses as double parking, parking too close to a fire hydrant, and so on. Fines which have been $5 will now be $5; those which have been $5, will be $8.

3 MOTORCYCLES STOLEN

From Faculty Road. Three motorcycles belonging to Princeton University students were stolen last week from the motorcycle compound in Lot 16 off Faculty Road.

Christopher R. Lipsett, 21, of Copley Hall, lost a new 1970 model which had only 270 miles on the odometer. He valued it at $750.

Robert S. Conroy, 20, whose home address is Metairie, La., lost a $400 cycle which had been chained to a post in the compound. Both cycle and chain were taken.

Charles Oleson, 22, of New Brunswick, lost a cycle valued at $250.

On Saturday, Joel Cooper of Magic Apartments, Faculty Road, reported that two rear tires and mag covers had been stolen from his Pontiac Firebird parked in the same lot. They were valued at $122.

A red, 11½-foot Penguin boat worth $200 was reported stolen Saturday by its owner, Jerome Saldick of 24 Randall Road. Mr. Saldick told police he had secured his boat with a chain and lock on Thursday at the Kingston end dock area of Carnegie Lake.

Two TV Sets Taken. Edward Rice, 12 Leigh Avenue, lost two television sets when his home was entered Thursday morning between 8 and 11. Police said

"PROTECT THE TREES"
League Asks Action. In a gesture for conservation last Wednesday the League of Women Voters of West Windsor presented the manager of a new Acme market in Princeton Junction with a small tree and a plan for the preservation of other trees on the site.

A League study unit had been reviewing open space and recreational land uses for some time, as part of a community project. The new Acme located at Princeton Junction, town Road and Alexander Road occupies part of a large wooded site with room for expansion.

Mrs. Arthur Goltke, president of the West Windsor League unit, welcomed the Acme's manager, Frank Buttrich, with the gift of a young tree and the following statement at the store's opening.

The League of Women Voters welcomes Acme to the West Windsor community. The League in West Windsor has been focusing its study and action on recreation, open space and responsible land use.

Your firm is located in one of the most rapidly developing areas of the township, adjacent to one of our more substantial wooded areas. We urge you to consider two things: commitment to wise land use, and preservation of all trees for both their ecological and esthetic contributions to your own future and that of the community.

We present this tree to you today as a symbol of our concern for a wise use of all our natural resources. We trust you will join us in this effort.

McKeever, 32 Dods Lane.

Dr. Jones, who was a charter faculty member at Westminster, is retiring this year from his position as Professor of Music and Director of the Seminary Choir at Princeton Theological Seminary. He and his wife plan to move to a farm in New Hampshire.

He was originally associated with the Westminster Choir in 1925 as organist, and after the founding of the College he became head of the composition department as well.

In 1934 Dr. Jones assumed the added responsibility of directing Princeton Seminary Choir, and gradually extended that group's activities. In 1951 he relinquished his post at Westminster to become Professor of Music at the Seminary. He has published many choral works, and holds two honorary Doctor of Music degrees.

Professor McKeever, a 1948 graduate of the Choir College, returned to join the voice faculty in 1958. In 1961 he became head of the voice department and in 1963, head of church relations. He has been director of alumni affairs and church relations since 1965.

Throughout these years, he was also visiting lecturer in music at Princeton Theological Seminary, and from 1961 to 1965 he directed a summer vocal camp for high school students.

Professor McKeever is considered an authority and consultant on the development of the ministry of music in churches. In this capacity he has lectured throughout the country on the use of music in the worship service, and he himself is a frequent bass soloist in oratorios. He is currently the minister of music at Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City.

Most Students Exempt from Income Tax Withholding

Most students with summer or part time jobs will no longer be required to have income taxes withheld from their earnings.

Roland H. Nash Jr., Director of Internal Revenue for New Jersey explains that the Tax Reform Act of 1969 eliminated Federal income taxes for single persons who earn less than $1,725 a year.

To take advantage of the new law which went into effect May 1, students who used no Federal income tax last year and who do not expect to earn more than $1,725 this year should file a Withholding Exemption Certificate with their employer on Form W-4E.

Employers may obtain supplies of Form W-4E by writing to the Tax Forms P.O. Box 1261 Newark, N. J. 07101. Small quantities are available also by any IRS office in New Jersey.

Although this change is particularly applicable to high school or college students, it applies to any employees who had 1969 tax liability and anticipates one for 1970. Single persons who earn less than $1,725 during 1970 and individuals 65 and over who expect to earn less than $2,130 will not be liable for any 1970 Federal income taxes.

Exemption from withholding is not automatic. It must be requested on the new Withholding Exemption Certificate W-4E.

W DIRECTORS DISMISSED

By Aslan Paley. The Board of Directors of the Princeton YWCA has said in a letter to President Nixon that the organization "is dismissed at the results of American policy in Southeast Asia."

The letter stated, "Military action continues to be inhumane, families here a day are struck by grief. Millions are diverted from our internal resources that should be devoted to the oppression of several groups of Americans and the suffocating life styles that are theirs. Our younger citizen leaders, as well as learning from national deeds, which are stronger than words, that our oft proclaimed virtues of justice, reason and a thoughtful process can be a mockery."

Increasing polarization of the citizens, decreasing communication and the "conflict of conscience created by what is happening in and to our nation" are making it impossible for Americans to achieve common goals, the board said.

"As an organization, we are pledged to help women achieve a more meaningful and creative life in which they can accept fuller responsibility as citizens and human beings. The expansion of the war and the growth of national antagonism are making our pledge unworkable."

A RESPONSE to Princeton University—

NOTES ON PLAN "A"

* (an adaptation of Princeton University's published Alexander Street re-alignment proposal, showing its approximate relation to existing property lines.)

TWO DOWNHILL RACEWAYS is what Plan "A" would make of Alexander Street and University Place. Alexander Street is already a raceway for aggressive drivers of all ages; now at least, there is only one raceway, and Southbound University Place traffic must stop before entering it. Plan "A" provides a virtually straight, uninterrupted downhill truck route of 1.3 miles for through traffic on its way from Nassau Street to U.S. 1 and Princeton Junction.

"X" MARKS THE SPOT where commuters, hurrying from Mercer Street and College Road down Alexander Street to the proposed new railroad station, would have to cross this parade of high-speed North-South through traffic, including other commuters headed for Princeton Junction. With or without a traffic light, this intersection would be a continuing peril to motorists.

BUT NO RELIEF OF PRINCETON'S NORTH-SOUTH TRAFFIC CONGESTION can be brought about by any mere re-alignment of Alexander Street and/or University Place below College Road. Congestion stems from the Nassau Street and Mercer Street area and only an improvement of traffic patterns in that area and/or building a brand new North-South artery to parallel Alexander Street can relieve this congestion.

YET PLAN "A" ASKS PRINCETON TOWNSHIP TO ABANDON OVER $100,000 IN TAX RATABLES to make way for the new Alexander Street and University Place contemplated in Plan "A", while the Borough and Township together turn over to Princeton University for its own private use the corresponding old rights of way. This maneuver in turn

PERMANENTLY KNOCKS OUT 400 FRONT FEET OF BADLY NEEDED BUSINESS ZONED PROPERTY in Princeton Township, at the same time giving Princeton University a complete monopoly of remaining business frontage on both Alexander Street and University Place — North of the proposed new railroad station parking lot, while it

OVERLOOKS COMPLETELY PRINCETON UNIVERSITY'S EXISTING 50-FOOT-WIDE RIGHT OF WAY BETWEEN ALEXANDER STREET AND THE RAILROAD — leading to the location of the proposed new railroad parking lot.

PLAN "A" REAL ESTATE ACQUISITION COULD COST $400,000 OR MORE — in addition to the construction cost of re-aligning Alexander Street and University Place.

PLAN "A" RETAINS FACULTY ROAD'S DANGEROUS RAILROAD CROSSING, which has already resulted in one fatal automobile accident. If the railroad station is to be moved at all, a decent regard for human life would require it be moved down far enough to eliminate the present Faculty Road grade crossing, thereby providing both safe, convenient and economical access to the station by automobile from all directions. Moreover,

PLAN "A" WILL BE OBSOLETE IF AND WHEN THE P.J. & B. IS ABANDONED ALTOGETHER — a very real possibility which no one is qualified to rule out with confidence. Last but not least,

PLAN "A" NEEDLESSLY DELAYS IMPROVEMENT OF UNIVERSITY PLACE since it can not be implemented until the railroad and station are actually moved downhill.

152 Alexander Street,
Princeton, N. J.
2 June 1970

Dr. Robert F. Goheen, President
Princeton University
Princeton, New Jersey

Dear Dr. Goheen,

As reported in the local press, your Department of Planning, Plant and Properties has recently announced an ambitious re-development plan for the University Place — Alexander Street area which, among other things, calls for re-alignment of Alexander Street and consequent demolition of my home and place of business and the homes and business places of a number of my neighboring independent property owners.

Although this plan of yours is reported to have been under consideration by your associates for at least a year, I had no inkling of it until someone from your real estate department telephoned me on May 15th to advise me that a Princeton University plan affecting my property would be announced in the following week's local newspapers.

It is now clear from your published proposals that if you are able to persuade all concerned authorities to use their condemnation powers to re-align Alexander Street as you suggest, you will have thereby achieved a complete monopoly of business zoned frontage along University Place and Alexander Street above the site of the proposed new railroad station parking lot.

Since such a commercial real estate monopoly for Princeton University is not listed among the published objectives of your re-development plan, I take the liberty of suggesting to you two alternative modifications of your plan (identified for this purpose as Plans "B" and "C" accompanying this letter.) Each of these alternatives offers you every opportunity to achieve your publicly stated objectives in the Alexander Street area — in substantially the pattern you and your associates have projected — but without penalizing Princeton motorists or taxpayers or destroying your Alexander Street neighbors.

I urge you to give serious, open-minded consideration to these alternatives as well as to my accompanying notes on your re-development plan as originally introduced by your Department of Planning, Plant and Properties (identified for this purpose as Plan "A" attached).

You have my assurance that, if you will drop your proposal for a costly and destructive re-alignment of Alexander Street below University Place, I will be very glad to cooperate with you in whatever reasonable proposals you may offer for improvement of the Alexander Street area, provided these proposals do not involve destroying my property or the property of my neighbors.

I hope very much that your reply to this open letter will be such as to reassure not only me but also others in the Princeton community that Princeton University is after all respectful of its neighbors' interests as well as its own.

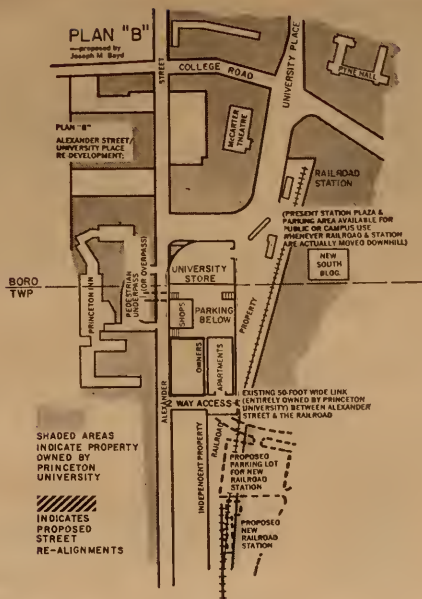

When I receive your reply, I will be very glad to publish it promptly in a suitable space in Town Topics and The Princeton Packet.

Sincerely yours,
Joseph M. Boyd

Let's Be Good Neighbors and Work

from an Alexander Street Neighbor:

NOTES ON PLAN "B":

For those who think the Plan "A" traffic pattern is desirable, and WITHOUT REALIGNING ANY STREETS, PLAN "B" CAN ACHIEVE THE SAME CONTROVERSIAL TRAFFIC PATTERN AS PLAN "A" — at virtually no cost — simply by installing suitable angled barrier curbs and stop signs and/or a traffic island at the present intersection of Alexander Street and University Place. If the University is determined to funnel all Northbound traffic into University Place, it can persuade Princeton Borough to agree, this can be accomplished simply and economically by making Alexander Street One Way Southbound between College Road and University Place. If that step is insufficient to satisfy those who would make upper Alexander Street a "purely local street", through traffic on upper Alexander Street could be dramatically disrupted by taking the further step of making Alexander Street One Way Northbound from College Road to Mercer Street. (Whatever havoc such an arrangement would cause would be instructive and the arrangement could be abandoned as easily and inexpensively as it was introduced). In any event.

PLAN "B" PROTECTS OUR COMMUNITY FREEDOM OF CHOICE OF FUTURE TRAFFIC PATTERNS in the Alexander Street — University Place area, without locking us into a half-million-dollar street re-alignment:

PLAN "B" ALSO MAKES USE OF PRINCETON UNIVERSITY'S EXISTING 50-FOOT-WIDE RIGHT-OF-WAY BETWEEN ALEXANDER STREET AND THE RAILROAD — diagonally opposite the Princeton Inn — leading directly into the location of the proposed new railroad station parking lot. Not only can this right-of-way serve as an off-street access to the University's proposed lower level parking facilities, but it is also an ideal potential link between Alexander Street and Railroad or University property which may become available for passenger access and parking. It also will provide an additional road connection between the University's property East and West of Alexander Street whenever the railroad is removed at that point.

A RE-LOCATED PEDESTRIAN PASSAGEWAY IN PLAN "B" PROTECTS PEDESTRIANS FROM TRAFFIC ON BOTH ALEXANDER STREET AND UNIVERSITY PLACE (Instead of just on University Place, as provided in Plan "A")

ACCESS TO LOWER-LEVEL PARKING IS FROM OFF-STREET AREAS rather than from a busy thoroughfare where, as in Plan "A", it constitutes a traffic hazard. Meanwhile, and until re-location of the railroad and station are actually approved, financed and completed,

PLAN "B" PARKING ARRANGEMENTS AT THE PRESENT RAILROAD STATION ARE MADE SAFER AND MORE CONVENIENT by installation of a simple sidewalk, separating University Place from most of the station parking area. At the same time,

NEITHER BOROUGH NOR TOWNSHIP WILL LOSE ANY RATABLES — the Borough retaining all tax revenue from the University Store and the Township losing no revenue from independent taxpaying property owners on Alexander Street. Last but not least,

PLAN "B" CAN BE PUT INTO EFFECT IMMEDIATELY — whenever the Borough and Township and University are ready — without waiting for the railroad or station to be moved or for other property to be acquired. Thereafter, if and when the railroad station is moved down the tracks — and the location of the new station determined — or if the P.J. & B. is abandoned altogether — the University, the Borough and Township and the Penn Central will be free to allocate railroad property as it becomes available — for campus or public use and for access routes — without any need to encroach upon independently owned Alexander Street property

NOTES ON PLAN "C":

While retaining the principal features of Plan "B", Plan "C" adds some frills, including an exchange of real estate between the Borough and the University which would permit smoothing out the curve in University Place somewhat (not enough to make it a speedway at that point) and establishes an inexpensive, experimental right angle intersection between upper Alexander Street and University Place (it could include a traffic island). In addition to providing a prominent location for the Princeton University Store, this plan also allows the University greater opportunity for expansion of its proposed apartment complex on the lower end of its University Place property.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

152 Alexander Street,
Princeton, N. J.
2 June 1970

The Regional Planning Board of Princeton
Borough Hall
Princeton, N. J.

Gentlemen:

Although you have not yet scheduled public hearings on Princeton University's recent proposal for re-development of the Alexander Street — University Place area, it is my understanding that you have been given details of the proposal and already have it under consideration.

I welcome as meritorious some features of the University's re-development plan.

However, I regard its proposed re-alignment of Alexander Street and University Place as contrary to the best interests of the Princeton Community as a whole, the motorists who pass through it and last but not least the independent property owners whose premises are marked for destruction by the re-alignment plan.

I wish therefore to record with you at the outset of your deliberations my determined opposition to this proposed re-alignment.

My reasons for taking this position are outlined in my open letter of this date to Dr. Robert F. Goheen, President of Princeton University, copy of which is attached for your reference, together with supporting notes and exhibits, which I respectfully commend to your attention.

I assume that you plan to hold public hearings on the University's proposals at an early date.

Sincerely yours,
Joseph M. Boyd

Jake McCandless Will Miss the Class of 1970

In evaluating the loss of 19 members of the Class of 1970, which graduates on Tuesday, Coach Jake McCandless has one thing going for him: the gaps left by the departing seniors are fairly evenly balanced on his offensive and defensive allocations. Both must be rebuilt at a number of crucial positions, but neither has been so thoroughly depleted that it must be rebuilt whole-sale.

Of the 22 players who started in the final game that brought an astounding 32-7 triumph over previously undefeated Dartmouth seven on the offensive unit and six who started on defense have concluded their careers. Of the remaining six seniors who saw action in varying degrees in a reserve capacity, all but one played on offense.

While it is helpful to a coach to face a rebuilding task with the knowledge that no one segment of his squad has been so badly cleaned by graduation, the losses that do confront McCandless are considerably higher than those of a year ago. He began his coaching career in 1960 needing to replace 14 lettermen, nine of whom were starters. Next fall, he will be missing 19 lettermen, 12 of whom held down starting berths against Dartmouth.

Losses are heaviest on the (FARER ENDED) Ellis Moore, captain and fullback of the 1969 Princeton football team which tied for the Ivy title, is among the seniors whom Coach Jake McCandless must replace in building for the campaign this fall.

SPORTS In Princeton

offensive line, which will be without five of seven starters, and lightest in the back field, which will have five of the top eight players returning. On defense, three regular linemen, one reserve and three members of the starting secondary have completed their careers.

There is considerable continuity in the Class of 1970: of the dozen regulars, no less than nine were three-year lettermen, an unusually high number. By positions, these are the men who must be replaced.

Offensive Ends: Rob Bordley and Mark Biers. Both were fine blockers, Bordley despite his 5'7 frame. Biers was a leading pass receiver for the past two seasons and their combined ability and experience will be difficult to match. Likewise departing is Paul Miller, a senior who saw sufficient action to win his letter as both a junior and senior. The fourth senior who played end is Stewart Dill, a converted center who saw little action.

Offensive Tackles: Ed Gontoff, a versatile 265 lb. two-year letterman who was used at both guard and tackle but started in the latter capacity last November when injuries so dictated Jim Thack, who also played both guard and tackle during his career and finished as the top replacement at left tackle, is also a senior.

Offensive Guards: As is the case at end, both starters are members of the Class of 1970. One is Rich Guerin, the other Dan White, who quarterbacked the 1968 team and made a highly successful conversion to the line on his blocking ability when McCandless derisked the single wing. Both Guerin and White are three-year lettermen.

Centers: None.

Offensive Backs: The one two punch at quarterback is gone, as is one of the better fullbacks in Princeton history. The latter was the captain - Ellis Moore - whose promising career was curtailed in his final season by an incipient hernia. A fine inside threat, he set on Ivy League record as a sophomore with five touchdowns against Harvard.

The biggest single loss to the squad is Scott McBean, whose near legendary transition from a fullback to the first year of T quarterbacking at Princeton was largely responsible for the Tigers' ability to earn a share of the Ivy title. Total offensive leader in the league, he guided the team to passing records which broke several that had been in the Princeton book for two decades and more.

Gene, ton, is Arnie Holtberg, who switched from being a good linebacker to a good quarterback. Their departure leaves the Tigers with virtually no experience at the quarterback slot, and tabs the replacement job there as the number one problem for McCandless in 1970. Also a senior last fall was Ted Eschbach of Pennington. He saw spot duty as a halfback.

Defensive Ends: Jim Nixon and Tom Peters. Nixon, another of the three year lettermen to go, combined fine play reading with sure tackling ability and will be sorely missed. Peters was used sparingly, despite his position as the reserve left end, because he was the huckman man for the fine sophomore, Steve Sikora.

Defensive Tackles: There is a real rebuilding task to be done here, following the graduation of Tom Hutchinson and big Bob Hews. A knee injury as a sophomore kept Hutchinson from earning three letters, but the 228-lb. Pennsylvanian put in two fine seasons thereafter, converting from end to tackle last fall. Hews, who got better and better (and bigger and bigger), stood 6-6 and weighed a good 260 in his last year - a combination of ability and size which led to his being drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs.

Defensive Backs: Three of the four deep backs (both corner backs and one safetyman) are members of the Class of 1970. The Tigers will lose Keith Mauney and Pete Lips, both three year lettermen, and Mike Manzo, who would have won a letter all three seasons but for a broken wrist which kept him out of action for part of his sophomore year.

Mauney was good enough to be drafted by the Atlanta Falcons. Manzo and Lips are not far behind him in ability.

PARKER LONE ENTRY
In State Track Meet, Lawrence Parker, whose specialty is the javelin, is the lone entry from Princeton High School in the NJSIAA state track meet to be held this weekend.

Parker qualified by hurling the spear 197.2 for second place in the Southern New Jersey sectional finals held Saturday at Cherry Hill West High School. The loss was his best of the season.

He's just hitting his peak now," commented his coach, Larry Ivan. "Last year at this time he was also at his best."

Parker has to edge Jim Sites of Millville who won the event in Group 4 competition, a javelin throw of 207.3. Sites also won the discus and shot out.

Parker is faster but Sites is stronger from the waist up.

The state meet for Group 4 schools this year will be held

LACROSSE CAPTAIN: Bill Pettit of Ridgeview Road has been named captain of Princeton's 1971 lacrosse team. A midfielder whose father is a member of the Class of 1941, Pettit has been called by retiring coach Ferris Thomson "one of the finest performers to play for me in my 20 years here."

Sports In Princeton

All three had experience and a fine record of interceptions and basic finesse on pass defense.

If replacing Scott MacBean at Quarterback is Princeton's no. one football problem next fall, rebuilding the defensive secondary is close behind in importance. While the Tigers were winning five of their last six contests in 1969, the defense allowed the opposition an average of just over eight points a game. That was a major factor in the team's ability to turn an early 500 record into an impressive first-place finish in the hectic Ivy League race.

NORMAL SEASON SEEN

For College Football. Fans who have been wondering whether the unrest which curtailed spring sports action on eastern college campuses will have a similar effect on football now have the Ivy League coaches' word that a full season of play is expected.

Meeting last week at Brown University, the eight coaches were unanimous in their opinion that the season would proceed along normal lines. Yale, Brown and possibly others may follow Princeton's lead in a two-week break in the academic calendar prior to Election Day, but games scheduled for the two Saturdays involved (October 24 and 31) will be played as scheduled, the coaches feel sure.

Belief is that the football player is a sufficiently dedicated individual to stay with the sport once he reports for fall practice, regardless of other activities on campus. Coaches plan to inform the players that those who wish to participate in political campaigns in late October should make such a choice before the season begins.

Princeton will lose a week of double practice sessions because it will open a week earlier, to compensate in part for the late October recess. This will complicate the Tigers' preparation for the Rutgers game, leaving them with the same amount of time for practice as they had last fall. If the two-week moratorium in class work had not been planned, college would have opened a week later, giving the team another week at Blairstown and another week of morning and afternoon sessions.

Rutgers, of course, has had spring practice and will have played a game in September before the Palmer Stadium opener on September 26. Last year, the problem of switching from the single wing to the T was considerably more than the Tigers could handle, and the 29-0 drubbing at the Scarlet's hands followed. Princeton's hopes for revenge will lend unusual interest to the 1970 game between the two old rivals.

DELAWARE THE WINNER

In NCAA Baseball, Strong pitching and timely hitting a combination hard to hold in check, carried Delaware to victory's baseball team to the NCAA District II title here last weekend and the College World Series in Omaha. The Middle Atlantic Conference champions won three straight games in the tournament on as many route going performances from hurlers who allowed a total of two runs, only one of them earned.

In the first day's action, the Blue Hens coasted to a 7-1 triumph over Penn State, collecting 11 hits and assuring the outcome with a three-run seventh. Next day, they topped Seton Hall, 5 to 1, getting their hits at the right time and yielding a run only after they had gotten the first five.

Seton Hall, meanwhile, opened with a 3-0 victory over Rutgers and, after the setback by Delaware, reached the finals by edging Penn State, 1 to 0, on Friday. Each of these victories was scored after the first eight innings had been runless. Also on Friday afternoon, Rutgers was eliminated from the tournament when it lost to Penn State, 5 to 1.

On Saturday, Seton Hall and Delaware squared off again. The Blue Hens drew first blood on a wrong-field triple down the first base foul line and a single in the top of the fourth. A three-run eighth took the game out of reach and the 4-0 victory was nailed down one inning later when second baseman Dave Yates made a diving catch of a Texas Leaguer in short center for the final out while two runners were heading for the plate.

Meanwhile, with both Princeton and Harvard recording 20 victories or more apiece and yet barred from NCAA action because Dartmouth got the nod as the Eastern League victor, there is a plan afoot to hold an elimination tournament involving the top eight colleges from Districts I and II. Weather and examination schedules would both provide potentially adverse factors but the hope is that something more equitable can be worked out than the

is meant to live in poverty

Some feel they are
"doomed" to poverty,
even that it is the will of God.

But the Bible tells us that God is good, and that He is the only real cause.

In fact, the Bible is full of instances of people who were lifted out of desperate need solely through an understanding of God's loving provision for every individual.

Many today are using this understanding faith to find their way out of poverty.

The Christian Science
Bible Lesson this week can give you some practical and helpful ideas on this subject.

You are invited to come in to our Reading Room and study it.

Bolster Pulls Muscle. Joe Bolster, Princeton's only other entrant in the sectional, pulled a muscle on the second lap of the mile event and had to withdraw. Running in a field of 20, Joe had just started to make a turn and move up to fifth place when it happened.

They were quite bunched up but he doesn't remember bitting anyone," said Ivan.
He's never had anything like this happen to him before and we just don't know what caused it exactly. It's just one of those things."

PHS NINE LOSE FINALE
100 For the Season. At the start of the 1970 season, Princeton High School baseball coach Harry Zoll reported that potentially he had the makings of his best team since his one and only championship of the 1960s. When the season ended Thursday against Steiner, Zoll had instead the worst of his career.

For the first time since he took over the reins in 1957, one of his teams failed to win a single game.

The final tally: no wins, 14 losses and two ties.

At the end, Zoll, despite the poor record, praised his team.
"They deserve a lot of credit,"
he said. "They played hard all season; there were no drop outs. It's a lot harder to hold a team together when you're losing," he continued, "than when you're a front runner."

"I admire courage more than any other factor," he added, and this was a coun-teous team." Then addressing his team which had played an innings of solid hit against a fine (13-5) Steiner team, he said "Boys, I'm more proud of you today than I have been in a long time."

All Senior Lineup For the final game the scheduled finale against Trenton Central Monday was cancelled
when Hamilton had to play an NJIAA tournament game (that day) Zoll fielded an all senior team with the exception of sophomore Don Crosby on the mound.

At first was Walt Dimitrak.
Bob Bruschl at second base.
Jeff Bannan at shortstop, in from his usual spot in center field, Ray Pettus at third, Mark Anderson behind the plate, Joe DeMeglio in right field, Alvin Campbell in left and captain Jeff Grover in center.

Spartan pitcher Neil Bowen wasn't fazed sorry for PHS, however. He limited the La-tie Tigers to three hits, all of them scattered, which is one reason why the team failed to win any this year. "A couple of hits at the right time and it became sort of a theme song for Zoll."

Steiner, on the other hand, bunched four of its hits in the sixth when it scored both runs.
The big blow was a two-run double by Dave Todini into centerfield. They earned their two runs, they hit the ball hard," said Zoll.

After a first inning single by Bannan, PHS had a chance to start something in the fifth when Pettus led off with a single. Bruschl followed with a shot to center that looked like an easy out but

SLIDE . . . OUT . . . ALTERCATION: With his foot extended, Alvin Campbell slides into first base in Princeton High School's final game of the season Thursday against Steiner. Campbell was out on a close play, the third in the fifth inning, stranding Bob Bruschl on third — the farthest any PHS runner was to get in the 2-0 loss to the Spartans. Immediately after the play, Steiner first baseman Bruce Henry confronted Campbell eyeball to eyeball and charged him with going for his legs.
(Staff Photo).

when the centerfielder dropped pitching hand. PHS lost it's the ball. Pettus got hung up only veteran pitcher. Zoll was between first and second.

Bruschl then stole second and advanced to third on a mussed ball. DeMeglio, next up, fanned and Alvin Campbell was out at first on a close play to end it.

In the last inning, PHS also got a runner as far as third, but with one down, Grover hit a ground rule double. He then surprised Steiner and the opponent's pitcher.

Never overpowering as a stealing third, Pettus walked again this year, but even more costly was its inability to come up with the big inning.

PHS NETMEN 14-2
Southern N. J. Champions.
The Princeton High School
Tennis team was crowned Group 4 Southern champions last week but then lost Saturday to Ridgewood in the state finals held at the Princeton University courts.

The Little Tigers finished with an overall 14-2 mark.
Their only other loss was a 3-2 decision to Christian Brothers.
On successive days last week.

coach Bill Humes' squad defeated Toms River and Cherry Hill East to win the Southern Group 4 title. This year, the format was changed. Humes reported. Previously, post season teams consisted of two singles players and a doubles team. If you had two good singles players, you could get by said Humes.

This year, the NJSIAA ruled that a school must be represented by a full team—three singles players and two doubles teams. Carrying the banner for PHS were Robbie Sonnen-schen, Danny Thompson and Michel Glouchevitch, number one, two and three singles players respectively.

The number one doubles was Bill Schmidt and Laurie Bloom and number two, Bill Tobolsky and Steve Ettlinghausen.

In the state finals, PHS lost to Ridgewood, 3 to 1. It was closer than the score indicated because a match is terminated the moment a team scores three points.

As a result, Glouchevitch, who was winning the third and decisive game of his match, had to stop playing after Ridgewood won both doubles matches. The match had been deadlocked after Sonnen-schen and Schmidt had won, although Thompson had won, also in straight sets.

In doubles play, Bloom and Schmidt and Ettlinghausen and Tobolsky both lost, 2-1, in three sets. A victory in either and the likelihood of a Glouchevitch win would have given the match to PHS.

In the other semi final match Westfield defeated Colonia and went on to defeat Ridgewood, the defending champion, in two finals. The same four schools participated in the state finals last season.

Humes loses through graduation Sonnen-schen, Bloom, Tobolsky and Ettlinghausen. The returning nucleus will consist of Thompson, Schmidt and Glouchevitch. And in the wings a seemingly endless supply of talent spawned by the Princeton Community Tennis Program, of which Humes has been an active leader.

Forty teams qualified on Friday and participated in two rounds of match play Saturday and another on Sunday, to the point of elimination. Each member and guest played on a basis of 85% of his handicap.

In the first flight, the winners were Bill Milman and Jack Mudge, while the second flight was won by Bob Shille.

her and John Ferguson, Harold Crane and Bill Donahue won the third flight, with Arthur Gardner and Charlie Copinger the victors in the fourth.

The longest drive in the qualifying round was credited to Bill Milman, competition taking place on the seventh hole. A putt for the clubhouse shot to the pin on the 15th was won by George Jack.

Springdale's annual club championship will begin Saturday, June 14. The qualifying round will be held then, with first round matches the next day.

They are: women's Singles, July 13-19; Men's Singles, July 20-26; Men's Doubles, July 27-Aug. 1; and Mixed Doubles, Aug. 3-4. Additional information may be obtained from John Bauman at 924-6927.

The driver was John Lekson, of Fort Campbell, Ky. He escaped injury but his car was also badly damaged. A witness told police that he saw the Lekson car on Nassau Street run into the rear of the first car for no apparent reason.

Phil Thomas Michael investigated the 1-43 accident. The driver of a small foreign car received contusions and abrasions when he collided with another car Friday afternoon at Cherry Valley and the Great Road.

The driver, Peter A. Ring, 21, of Hunt Farm, Mercer Road, was ticketed by Phil Joseph Muzzas for failing to observe a stop sign on Cherry Valley. He struck a car driven by Norman E. Morgan, 59, of Lake Mills, Wis.

BUSINESS In Princeton

200 HEAR SPEECH
On Business Outlook. More than 200 area business and professional men were guests of the First National Bank of Princeton at a Nassau Inn luncheon last Thursday, at which Dr. Paul S. Nadler, professor of business administration at Rutgers was the guest speaker.

Mr. Nadler, a popular speaker on economic subjects and business trends gave a somewhat bleak — somewhat cheery view of the world situation.

In Mr. Nadler's view, the balance of 1970 will be a year of diminished profits and deflated stock prices. A week of the "big strike" and a year of housing. But all is not gloom. According to Mr. Nadler's assessment, the economy will turn up at the year end and the future looks bright.

"There are lots of bargains in the market now," he says, adding, "for those who can afford to wait."

The demands of minority groups and the environmental needs of the country will keep the economy surging regardless of military cutbacks, Mr. Nadler believes.

In addition to his post at Rutgers, he is a faculty member of the Stinner Graduate School of Banking and the Life Officers Investment Seminar. He is a consultant for four commercial banks and the banking department of I.B.M.

The First National Bank of Princeton will be opening its third branch office in Lawrenceville this fall.

PRIMARY NAMES NEW VP
to Corporate Finance. Henry H. Patton has been appointed vice-president and treasurer of Primary Company, Inc., One Palmer Square, and treasurer of Mathematics Park, Inc. The announcement was made this week by President Richard M. Colgate of Primary Company.

Henry A. Patton

Mr. Patton has been in the field of corporate finance for most of his business life. He is a member of the Princeton Class of 1935, and was most recently a vice-president and director of Deltec Securities Corporation in New York.

Mr. Patton is married and has three children. He lives on Orchard Road, Skillman.

MANAGER NAMED

By Wood and Tower, Frank J. Benz, Jr., vice-president of business and finance at Rochester Institute of Technology, has joined Wood & Tower, Princeton-based consultant in facility planning and cost control, as general manager of services.

Mr. Benz took up his new post on June 1, the effective date of his resignation from RIT. He joined RIT in 1955 as an auditor, was named comptroller in 1958, and was appointed to his present position in 1969.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Benz is a graduate of Baldwin Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, and received his M.B.A. from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Before going to RIT, he was with the Ford Motor Company, the Cleveland Board of Education and the Standard Oil Company of Ohio. As general manager of services, Mr. Benz will be in charge of Wood & Tower's computer services.

SKILLS SEMINAR SET For Secretaries. A one-day intensive course in secretarial skills will be held in East Coast cities, including Princeton, on June 25 at the Nassau Inn.

Entitled "Improving the Secretary's Managing Skills, the course is for secretaries to managers in all disciplines, recently appointed secretaries to top executives, and career-minded secretaries with executive or administrative potentials, according to Joseph A.

Dougherty, president of Dougherty Associates, Inc.

Mr. Dougherty, head of the public relations firm, announced that Dr. Mina M. Johnson, executive director of the professional and business women's division of the Industrial Education Institute, will be the seminar leader.

Dr. Johnson is professor of office administration at San Francisco State College and has taught business and secretarial subjects at Indiana University, the University of Iowa, and the University of Oregon.

The seminar will be limited in size, and reservations will be accepted in the order received. Participation may be arranged by writing or calling Dougherty Associates, Inc., 1 Palmer Square East, 321 6511.

RANK PROMOTION

To Assistant Treasurer. Mrs. Bernice H. Gall, of Hamilton Square, has been promoted to the position of Assistant Treasurer of the Princeton Savings and Loan Association.

Mrs. Gall joined the mortgage department of Princeton Savings in June, 1969, bringing with her some 15 years of bank experience.

A graduate of Princeton High School, she also attended the American Institute of Banking.

WHY PRAY FOR PEACE, BUT PAY FOR WAR?

Each month several thousand Americans deduct the 10% federal tax before paying their telephone bills. They do this to resist a tax that was directly intended to pay for the war in Vietnam.

"It is clear that the Vietnam and only the Vietnam operation makes this (tax) bill necessary."

—Representative Wilbur Mills, Congressional Record, Feb. 23, 1966

What is a good citizen to do if his government violates the law while demanding his financial support?

According to Article VII of the Constitution, all treaties "made under the authority of the United States shall be the supreme law of the land." The U.S. is a party to the Hague Conventions of 1907, and the Geneva Convention of 1949. We have violated these treaties. (For documentation and texts of treaties, see 'In the Name of America' published by Clergy and Laymen Concerned, 475 Riverside Dr., N.Y. 10027)

The American Prosecutor at the Nuremberg trials said: "The fact that a person acted pursuant to order of his government. . . does not relieve him of responsibility under international law, provided a moral choice was in fact possible to him" which laws to abide by? The supreme laws of the land and international law, or the Internal Revenue Service Code?

A Vietnam veteran says of the well known atrocities: "Now I ask, if you and the people of the U.S. did not want us to do that, why did you provide us with the weapons of mass destruction? The citizens of the U.S. are paying about two billion dollars a month for that. . ." In Cambodia U.S. trucks operated under a makeshift sign with the ironic inscription, "Your tax dollars at work". (N.Y. Times, May 13, 1970)

Tax resisters say they cannot abide by the law that tells them to make such payments. Some take this position on moral and ethical grounds alone; others do so in order to abide by the Constitution. All of them are working for the kind of change that will allow them both to pay taxes and to remain good citizens.

Dear "telephone tax" payer,

President Nixon says he assumes complete responsibility for clearing the sanctuaries - otherwise known as Cambodia - We are not to assume the burden. This noble self sacrifice is his alone. Yet, the U.S. Constitution says that only Congress shall declare war. No "strict construction" constitutional view allows the president to make war by fiat. Our power (hard hats, bums, G.I.'s and snobs alike!) through Congress has been usurped by the President. A wry act of revolution or repression? One form of resistance is not paying my telephone tax.

HARMONY HILL FARM — 1708

On 130 acres of exciting investment opportunity. Old stone manor house, impeccably restored and manageable as if it had been built yesterday. Eight rooms, old fireplaces, two modern baths, and a sound barn and tool house. 16 miles north of Princeton in the beautiful Neeshanic valley of high holdings and escalating land values. Six miles from de luxe New York or Philadelphia commuting. Rare opportunity for return of entire investment of $225,000 while you retain home and acreage. Let us show you how.

NORTHWEST TOWNSHIP LOCATION

Lofty trees, vivid azaleas and iris accent the distinctive architecture of this garrison colonial. The house is indescribably lovely and this ad cannot do justice to its total feeling of casual elegance, perfection in upkeep and genuine good taste.

From center hall flagstone entrance one is welcomed into the beautifully proportioned living room with bookcases flanking the fireplace and a formal dining room. Overlooking the woods is a large paneled family room with colonial fireplace opening to a marvelous redwood deck. Needless to say, the kitchen offers everything for pleasant work and casual dining. A small study or fifth bedroom completes the downstairs.

The master bedroom suite with commodious closets is an entity by itself and secluded from the other bedrooms. The house is centrally air conditioned and most exceptional. $89,500.

A SUPERB

RAISED

RANCH

The colossal condition of this 4 bedroom residence is only a small part of what comprises the attractiveness of this dwelling. It has wall to wall carpeting throughout the hallways, living room, dining room and master bedroom.
It has a cheery eat-in kitchen, 2 1/2 baths, laundry room and utility room.

All this is overshadowed by the sensational stone fireplace in the bright family room. An oversized 2 car garage is another feature of this most attractive home.

Mortgage available to qualified buyer.
